

Faucists on the March

December 22, 2021

While many experts, including Southwest Airline's CEO, think that the air filtration systems on jetliners are so good that wearing protective face coverings ("masks") is pointless, our Doctor Anthony Fauci will have none of it.

When the National Institutes of Health head honcho and Big Pharma Pusher No. 1 was asked about whether we can ditch masks on airplanes, he responded predictably: no. "I think when you're dealing with a closed space, even though the filtration is good, that you want to go that extra step. . . ." He says that even with first-rate filtration systems, "masks are a prudent thing to do, and we should be doing it."

This was on ABC News's This Week on Sunday.

"As Christmas approaches, COVID-19 again threatens to upend American life, driving the spread, Omicron," ABC's Jonathan Karl narrated. "At least 43 states now have confirmed cases of the latest and by far most contagious variant yet. On Saturday alone, New York state reported nearly 22,000 new COVID cases, breaking a single-day record set just the day before." And then Karl mentioned total COVID deaths in the United States — but not the number of Omicron deaths.

See how the propaganda is pitched? The breathless relaying of statistics, but nothing like a sense of the science.

Contra Fauci, these once-discouraged and now-forever-exalted masks are not nearly as effective as made out. And they have severe "unintended" effects.

I put marks around "unintended" because for some people in power, the psychological effects of mandatory masks in a situation of perpetual or seasonal alarm might be the whole point: the inducement of a mass delusional psychosis. How very fascist.

We can appreciate the name "Fauci" both by rhyme and reason: Faucism is medical fascism.

This is Common Sense. I'm Paul Jacob.
