

Mr. Vehement

January 30, 2023

He's vehement — vehement with the force of 600,000 Hiroshima-class atomic bombs exploding each and every day.

Because he cares.

He really does.

He really cares about putting the days of Wooden AI Gore behind him and ushering in Apoplectic Foaming-at-the-Mouth-While-Bleeding-From-Every-Pore AI Gore.

It's just unfortunate though that whilst ratiocinating at Davos, Mr. Gore destroyed the atmosphere and disarranged the solar system, further accelerating global warming and cooling.

If only vehemence were facts and cogency, AI Gore would be the most empirical, most logical man alive.

If you're wondering whether I am now just making stuff up, thank you for noticing; yes: I learned it from the best. But I'm sincere. Okay? I'm emoting very hard right now, for which I fully expect to receive social-credit points that I can tape to my COVID-19 passport and wave at the grocery-store clerk as I pay a thousand dollars for a half-dozen eggs.

If only vehemence were facts and cogency, AI Gore would be the most empirical, most logical man alive. As it is, a billion flabbergasted refugees have fled before the force of his rhetoric.

If you don't believe that Gore not whispered but roared, nay, expectorated, the following, etc., at Davos about how the (man-made) greenhouse effect is trapping "as much extra heat as would be released by 600,000 Hiroshima-class atomic bombs exploding every single day on the earth!! That's what's boiling the oceans, creating these atmospheric rivers, and the rain bombs, and sucking the moisture out of the land, and . . . and . . . and —"

. . . then I refer you to the videotape. Roll it, Hal.

This is Common Sense. I'm Paul Jacob.
